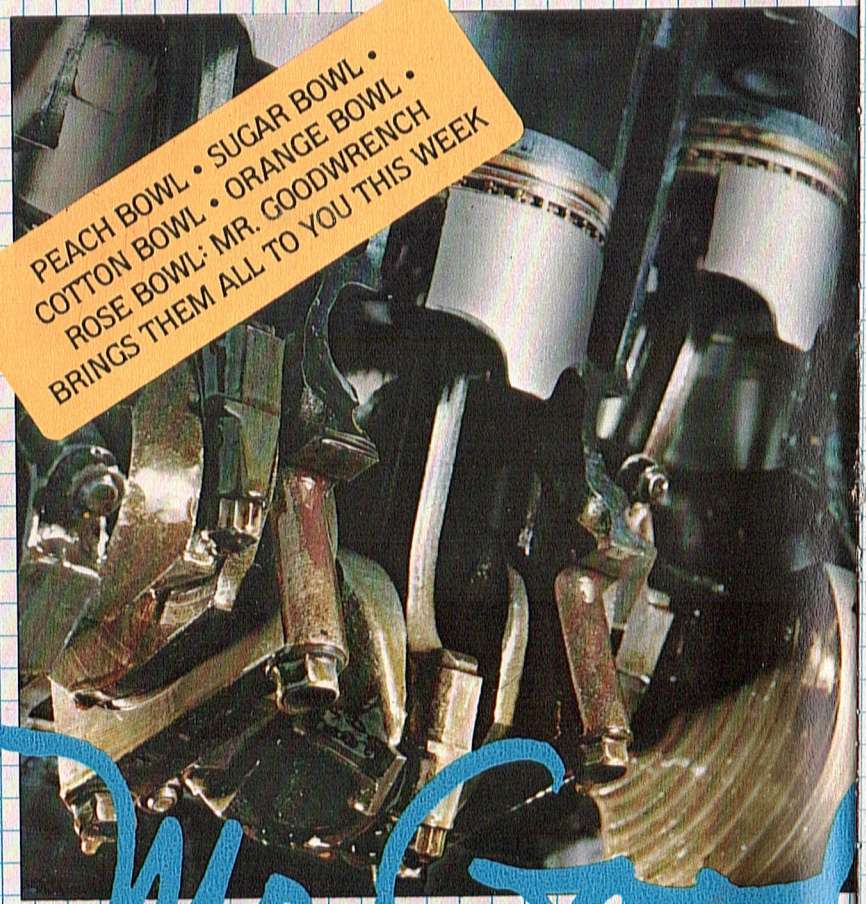
Worn oil grinds your engine's life away at 200 strokes per second.



New life-saving fluid eases the grind.

Your car's engine is incredible. As Mr. Goodwrench explains, "At 55 mph, a 6-cylinder engine makes about 14,000 piston strokes just to carry you a mile. Many engines may last over 100,000 miles—or more than a billion-and-a-quarter strokes. Yet, many engines don't last that long. Too many of those strokes caused wear. The culprit could be worn motor oil.

"Worn motor oil shortens your engine's life quickly. It's full of dirt, water, metal particles, gasoline and nearly countless other abrasives and chemicals.

"What can help make the difference in engine life? Regular oil changes. New life-saving fluid. And choose the right motor oil...a fine quality oil like GM Goodwrench Motor Oil.

GM Goodwrench Motor Oil meets or exceeds all GM specifications for General Motors cars and light trucks. So ask for this fine motor oil by General Motors whenever an oil change and lubrication are recommended by your GM maintenance schedule."

While you're there ask Mr. Goodwrench to check your filters. New filters should help protect your engine, too. Mr. Goodwrench has quality GM parts available. Plus he has the right equipment and training. GM training. He's at participating independent GM dealers who sell Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks, Cadillacs, GMC and Chevy trucks.

TV GUIDE'S FOURTH ANNUAL J. FRED MUGGS AWARDS

Looking back at TV in 1984, we cite those who excelled at making monkeys of themselves

George Orwell warned us all about 1984, but he never predicted it would also be a year of Olympic-size goofs, gaffes and glitches on America's telescreens. But then, who could have guessed Tip O'Neill would pull a Candid Camera on his House colleagues, Donald Duck would be cited for violence, and Howard Cosell would be missed? And so, in the name of Dave Garroway's simian sidekick on the original Today show, we hereby declare these fourth annual Games open and crown the winners whom we've judged to be fair game for their inspired feats of silliness. And to all those contenders who somehow managed to slip by us in '84, a warning: Big Chimpanzee is watching you. . . .

They Might Have at Least Waited Until National Water-Bed Month

. . . goes to NBC News correspondent Roger Mudd. During coverage of the "Super Tuesday" primaries last March, Mudd buffaloed Democratic Presidential candidate Gary Hart by asking him such pertinent questions as "Will you do your Teddy Kennedy imitation for me now?"

The Andy Rooney Curmudgeon of the Year Award

. . . goes to Andy Rooney. The 60 Minutes commentator walked out in the middle of his speech to the Alaska Press Club because he objected to the presence of a local TV news crew taping his remarks.

This Time, the Fault Wasn't in the Stars

Just after NBC's Santa Barbara finished shooting an earthquake sequence to boost its less-than-earthshaking ratings, there was a real California quake, which registered 4.7 on the Richter scale. Not bad, considering the soap's quake managed only a feeble 3.4 on the Nielsen meter.

See You Later, Alligator!

Elvis, the 9½ foot, 350-pound alligator who plays Det. Sonny Crockett's pet on Miami Vice, broke his contract—a chain leash—and escaped for 10 minutes into Miami's Biscayne Bay. Elvis was finally persuaded—with ropes—to renew his ties to the show. →

ABC broke from its scheduled coverage of the Tuesday night session of the Democratic National Convention to air a repeat episode of Hart to Hart. After 20 minutes, the network changed its mind and switched back to the convention. ABC finished third in the ratings that night—and last in the hearts of Hart to Hart fans, who were left wondering how the show ended.

SUMMARY NOTICE OF PROPOSED SETTLEMENTS AND OF AVAILABILITY OF PRINTED NOTICE

TO: ALL PERSONS WHO ARE SERVICE STATION LESSEE-DEALERS OF THE FOLLOWING COMPANIES, OR WHO WERE LESSEE-DEALERS OF ANY OF THE FOLLOWING COMPANIES AT ANY TIME BETWEEN MAY 11, 1967 AND DECEMBER 31, 1977:

AMERADA HESS CORP. (Hess), AMERICAN OIL COMPANY (Amoco Oil Co. or Amoco), ATLANTIC RICHFIELD COMPANY (Arco), BP OIL INC. (BP after December 31, 1969, William Penn or Boron), CHEVRON OIL CO. (Chevron), and its successor CHEVRON U.S.A. Inc., CITIES SERVICE OIL CO. (Citgo or Cities Service), EXXON CORP. (Exxon), GETTY OIL COMPANY (Getty, Tide-water/"Flying A" after September 30, 1967, and Skelly after January 31, 1977), GULF OIL CORP. (Gulf), HUMBLE OIL & REFINING CO. (Esso, Enco or Humble), MOBIL OIL CORP. (Mobil,) PHILLIPS PETROLEUM CO. (Phillips), SHELL OIL CO. (Shell), SINCLAIR OIL CORP. (Sinclair) (March 4, 1969 to December 29, 1972 only), SUN OIL CO. (Sunoco and DX after October 25, 1968), TEXACO INC. (Texaco), UNION OIL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA (Union 76).

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a class action on your behalf is presently pending under the federal antitrust laws in the United States District Court for Eastern District of Pennsylvania. The classes consist of (i) all present lessee-dealers of the companies named above, and (ii) all persons who were lessee-dealers of those companies for any length of time between May 11, 1967 and December 31, 1977. You may be a member of either or both classes, and, if so, your rights will be affected by a proposed settlement of this case.

In substance, plaintiffs (those bringing suit) alleged among other things that the defendant oil companies had conspired to impose a system of lease and supply agreements upon their lessee-dealers as follows: (1) defendants had required as a condition to the leasing of a gasoline service station site, that the lessee-dealer purchase gasoline only from the lessor-defendant, and (2) defendants had required their lessee-dealers to sell only gasoline supplied by them from pumps bearing their trademarks.

The defendants (the oil companies being sued) deny these allegations, deny that they have violated the antitrust laws, deny that their dealer agreements were unlawful in any respect, and deny that they were liable to any lessee-dealers for the claims asserted by the plaintiffs.

Settlements were approved with the Sun and Getty oil companies in 1981. Proposed settlements have now been reached with the remaining thirteen defendants. These settlements will become effective if approved by the Court after a hearing to be held on March 4, 1985, on their fairness, reasonableness and adequacy. If you are a member of one or both classes, you should have received by mail a detailed printed notice. If not, you may obtain a free copy of this notice by filling out and mailing the form below to:

Clerk of the Court, United States District Court (E.D. Pa.), Post Office Box 1580, Philadelphia, PA 19105

If you were a lessee-dealer at any time during May 11, 1967 to December 31, 1977, and you desire to participate in the allocation of the settlement funds, you must fill out the claim form attached to the detailed printed notice. Objections to the proposed settlements must be filed by February 1, 1985 and claim forms must be submitted by March 15, 1985. Therefore, if you have not yet received the detailed printed notice, you must promptly fill out the coupon below and a notice will be sent you.

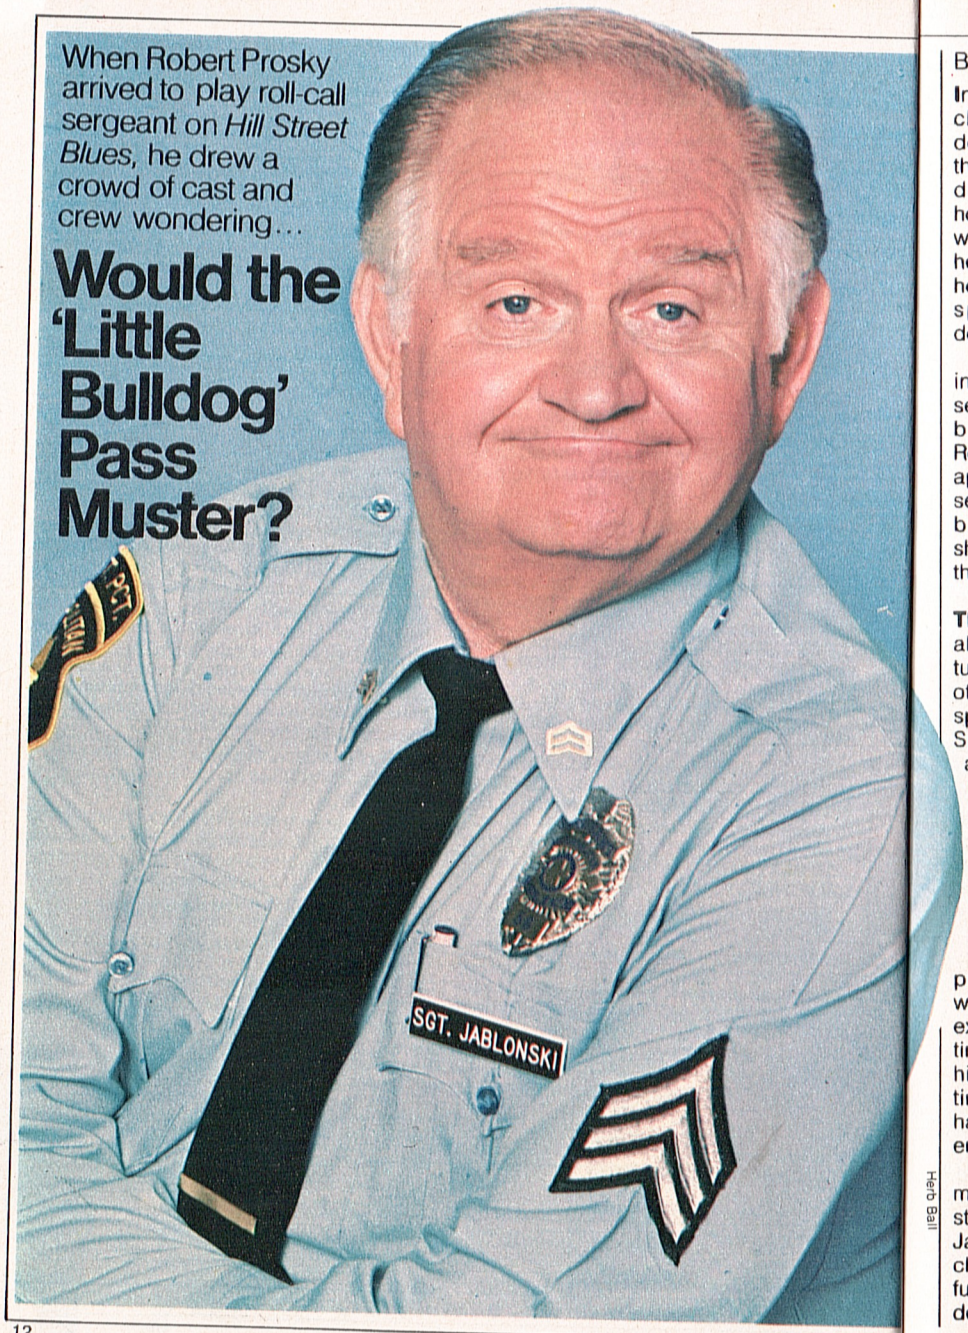
When Robert Prosky arrived to play roll-call sergeant on Hill Street Blues, he drew a crowd of cast and crew wondering...

Would the 'Little Bulldog' Pass Muster?



Herb Ball

By Bill O'Hallaren

In Hollywood, the spectacle of an actor making his debut in a critical role has the fascination of a high dive through a flaming hoop—everyone wants to watch so they can cheer if he makes it or shake their heads sadly and quickly spread the word if he doesn't.

So it was on a July morning on the Hill Street Blues set when veteran actor—but new man in town—Robert Prosky made his first appearance as the roll-call sergeant, a role memorably crafted during the show's first four seasons by the late Michael Conrad.

The roll-call regulars were all in place, plus a heavy turnout of executives and other bystanders and such special kibitzers as James Sikking (Howard Hunter), and Veronica Hamel (Joyce Davenport), who had come in on their own at 6 A.M. just to see the drama within the drama. As Sikking said later, "You have to wonder what he's going to be like."

What they saw was a pudgy 54-year-old actor who looked and sounded exactly like a tough, old-time cop who may have had his face bashed in sometime or other and possibly had done the same to others.

Prosky from the first made clear that his gruff, streetwise Sgt. Stanislaus Jablonski was a totally new character, not to be confused in any way with the departed Sergeant Esterhaus. "Conrad came across as a big teddy bear," says Mike Warren (Bobby Hill), another observer. "Prosky is a little bulldog."

The writers gave the little bulldog some meat to chew on. In one scene, the feisty newcomer spends half the roll call denying he was transferred to Hill Street for striking a superior officer—a woman. "Stan Jablonski never cold-cocked no woman," he declares indignantly. In another scene, the superior, played by Sharon Barr, appears at Hill Street to deliver a wicked right to Jablonski's eye, leaving him to face his troops with a magnificent shiner.

Afterward, Sikking pronounced that Prosky "fits us like a well-broken-in shoe." Warren guessed that "a multiplicity of policemen are going to identify with him and say, 'I know that guy'."

Prosky admits that despite his 30 years as an actor, the debut on Hill Street "stirred a lot of butterflies." Of the actors and others watching him so closely, he says: "They were respectful but there was that element of 'Let's see what he can do,' and I knew it existed."

The loss of the popular Conrad was a blow to Hill Street and the efforts to fill the critical roll-call-sergeant niche frustrating. Betty Thomas (Lucy Bates) took over for a time. According to Barbara Bosson, who is not only Fay Furillo but the wife of executive producer Steven Bochco, "Betty was terrific but they needed a father figure and she's no daddy." Many actors who weren't right were eager for the role and the few who were usually didn't want any part of a series.

Somehow in the mysterious ways of show business, the search led to Prosky, who had spent most of the last 26 years as a member of the Arena Stage in Washington, D.C., where he appeared in more than 130 roles. Word had spread that there was a dandy character actor in that Washington group, which led to some Broadway plays for Prosky, including the current hit "Glengarry Glen Ross," for which he received a Tony nomination.

He has also appeared in movies, such as "Thief," "The Lords of Discipline," "Christine," "The Keep" and Robert Redford's "The Natural." Directors often saw him as a villain.

Warren recalls seeing "Glengarry" in New York. "At that time there were rumors James Earl Jones might be the roll-call sergeant and I would have loved it because he's a dear friend. But that night after the play I told the people I was with what a great sergeant Prosky would be." The Bochcos saw the play at about the same time and came away with the same idea.

Bochco, who had also seen Prosky in "Thief," offered him the role over → the phone. Bosson says, "I didn't think he'd take it." She had reasons for her doubt; Prosky had been offered another TV plum, Coach on Cheers, and turned it down.

Recalls Prosky, "They had a commitment for 13 shows and they wanted me to sign a seven-year contract. I knew their show was going to succeed and that's why I turned it down." Again? "My three children [all boys] were in school and it would mean uprooting my family. I just wouldn't do it." He adds, "Of course, if I had, I'd be rich."

In Washington Prosky had led the sort of middle-class, family-oriented life that is more typical of a bookkeeper than an actor. "We'd rehearse one play in the afternoon and perform another at night. I'd be home by midnight and up the next morning to take the kids to school." Sikking almost reverently proclaims, "Bob is a genuine family man and my kind of guy. He has no need for personal ego satisfaction, no unusual sexual proclivities, does not ingest foreign matter and he also smokes a pipe." But, "if you want flamboyant, no. Peter O'Toole, he's not."

When the offer came from Bochco, the boys were already off to college and "there's just Ida and me." Wife Ida is pursuing a Master's degree in anthropology and two of the boys are studying acting and may soon show up in Hollywood.

Bochco admits hiring Prosky long distance was a gamble. "I never met him until he walked in my door. I was rolling the dice." The producers and writers had a series of bull sessions with Prosky, which developed the Jablonski character, and Bochco pronounced himself satisfied. "He's a wonderfully flexible guy. I like him in the role a lot."

At a lunch at an elegant restaurant favored by the Hill Street regulars, Prosky faced one of the prices of being on TV. After listening to the waiter recite a litany of rich and luscious foods, he mournfully ordered a serving of asparagus and a glass of tonic water.

It made him recall an admission from an old friend, Ned Beatty, who also came to Hollywood from the stage. "I once asked Ned what it was like seeing himself in pictures and he said, 'I look at the screen and ask who's that fat old man up there saying my lines?' "

Prosky, who has a Polish background (his family name is Porzuczek), is pleased to play a character named Jablonski, though the producers say there'll be no emphasis on Jablonski's ethnic origins. He was raised in Philadelphia where "I still have a network of family." He received a degree in economics from Temple University, did some amateur acting, won a scholarship to a former school of the American Theatre Wing, got some minor parts, showed up in Washington for what was supposed to be eight weeks' work at the Arena Stage and stayed 23 years.

Before flying to Hollywood to start work on Hill Street, he stopped in Philadelphia to visit his uncle, John Matulewicz, a retired police sergeant, "who did roll calls and the whole bit." Prosky doesn't dwell on his Polish antecedents.

Bosson believes Prosky is finding it hard to adjust to Hollywood's sometimes dizzy pacing. "He's kind of lost. He's used to having a community of actors who meet every day and talk over every line. The last time I saw him he hadn't been called for five days." Prosky admits to some unease. "One day I put in more than 12 hours and at the end I was really charged up and couldn't wait to get back the next morning. But they told me I wouldn't be needed for a week. All that energy wasted."

Warren notes that Prosky has already taken one step toward going Hollywood. He says, tongue in cheek, "He has just bought the car I want. It's a white Lincoln Continental."

Prosky is prepared for a long run on Hill Street but recalls, "I opened once in a Broadway play and that first night went beautifully. A smash. We all went to Sardi's afterwards and everyone stood and applauded. A golden moment. A bit later The New York Times review came in. I never saw a room empty so fast in my life." You gather Prosky isn't going to be shaken unduly either by the sound of applause or a room emptying. END

GRAPEVINE

Here's Mud in Her Eye

When Mary Tyler Moore agreed to star in HBO's "Finnegan, Begin Again," there was nothing in the script about her falling into a muddy, open grave site. The way the scene was written, Moore was to have remained high and dry, while one object of her character's affections (co-star Robert Preston) had it out with his rival (Sam Waterston) for those affections. Waterston would then go into the muck. During rehearsal, however, Moore suggested that it might be more fun if she took a dive, too, trying to help Waterston out. Stopping only to plead, "Please, let's try and get it in one take," the graceful Moore then plunged right over Waterston's shoulder, splat in the mud for a perfect pratfall. (Far left: Moore and Waterston, muddy but unbowed.)

Rerun

Stephanie Faracy and her manager had this idea: "Wouldn't it be great to have a series about a pair of detectives—one an old guy, the other a younger woman?" They took the idea to Warner Bros., who said, "Great!" Soon after, the studio called back. "Don't we own that?" they asked. And sure enough, Faracy and her partner had described a Warner's movie they had never seen: "The Late Show." No problem. If at first you do succeed—then make a pilot for ABC, starring Faracy and Charles Durning (below). It's called Dick and Tracy and hopes are that it will air later this season.

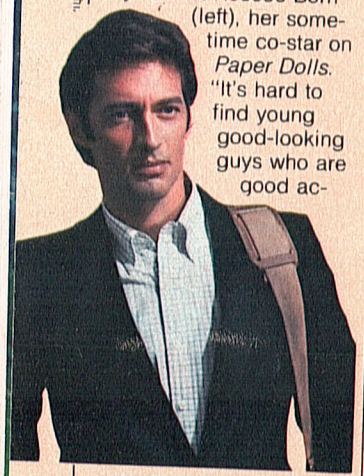
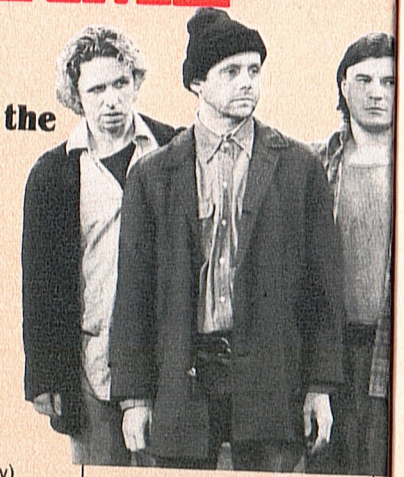
Lavish Praises



Chic Donch.

It's almost enough to turn a guy's head—the nice things Morgan Fairchild says about Roscoe Born (left), her sometime co-star on Paper Dolls. "It's hard to find young good-looking guys who are good actors. If they're very good, they're usually under contract somewhere else already. The really good young guys just don't want to be tied to a series. Roscoe," she says, "is such a good actor, I don't want to lose him from the show. I told the producers, 'Have him come back and break my heart. He can give my character, Racine, a good kick in the rear'."

A Mary for the '80s?

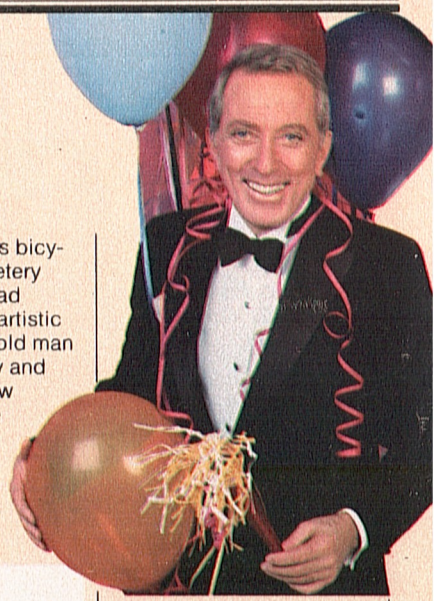


Here's a familiar sitcom premise: a young, single career woman shuttles between her office and her apartment. But don't confuse Sara, an NBC midseason replacement series, starring Buffalo Bill's Geena Davis (below), with The Mary Tyler Moore Show. "We've been desperately trying not to do that show," says Sara's executive producer, Gary David Goldberg. "How can you do it better than the original?"

Jim Cornfield

(Dead)Panning For Gold

Fans of Newhart will recognize this dapper trio in a flash. That's Larry (William Sanderson, center) and his brother Darryl (Tony Papenfuss, right) and his other brother Darryl (John Voldstad, left), the backwoods bumpkins who now run Kirk Devane's restaurant. Although Larry is the only one of the three who talks—and what he says is played for laughs—Sanderson, surprisingly, is neither a comedian nor a comic actor. In a primarily film-oriented career, he has played Sissy Spacek's uncle in "Coal Miner's Daughter" and Sebastian, the wistful genetic engineer, in "Blade Runner." "The secret, I think, is to be as sincere as possible," says Sanderson. After his agent sent him to read for the part of Larry, he says, "I got a vision of the character. A lot of him is based on this guy I played in a low-budget movie who rode his bicycle out to the cemetery and talked to a dead friend." Any other artistic influences? "This old man I saw on Broadway and Canal Street in New York City once. He was yelling down the street, cursing everyone and picking things off his hat."



Liz & Jean: R & R

Identical twins Liz and Jean Sagal (below), the stars of NBC's Double Trouble, didn't just twiddle their respective thumbs during their sitcom's five-month hiatus. "We auditioned separately for a lot of parts," says Liz. Of course, once DT was revived, she had to turn down a role in "I Was a Teenage Boy" and Jean had to say no to producers of "Prison Dancer," a low-budget film made in South America about—oh, never mind. "And did you hear that a restaurant in New York named a dessert after us?" says Liz. "It's called 'Double Trouble'." No kidding. It's made with ice cream and whipped cream with hot fudge—cheesecake and chocolate mousse.

Holding an Audience

Andy Williams (above) will be back at New York City's Plaza Hotel—and down in Times Square again—this Monday, as CBS welcomes in 1985 with "Happy New Year, America." "I had a good time with it last time," says Williams. This year's show will be more of the same. "I'll do five or six songs." But isn't the real star of any New Year's Eve show the ball in Times Square? "That's right," agrees Williams. "Up until that time, every eye is on the screen. [Once it comes down] I don't know how many people are watching."

Brett Porter

Imitation Of Life ↑

Actor Brett Porter has discovered that he and Brett Hamilton III—the rich-boy character he plays on Search for Tomorrow—have more in common than their first names. For instance, both are into photography, an activity Porter has pursued avidly since college. (In fact, he took that picture of himself, above.) In addition, Hamilton's father is in the lumber business—and (wouldn't you know it?) Porter once worked as a logger before becoming an actor. Both, too, are single—although Porter won't be for long. He recently became engaged to actress Liz Keifer (One Life to Live's ambitious Connie O'Neill). The wedding's in May.

Love Stories

Look for two romantic triangles to explode this week on All My Children. The Cynthia-Daisy-Palmer denouement will prove a shocker. Meanwhile, the Hillary-Bob-Tad drama will feature some pulse-pounding suspense involving a rattlesnake in the wilds of Arizona, a marriage proposal—and one character's desperate (futile?) race against time.

Beautiful Music

Last season, Catherine Hickland (who plays Julie McCandless on Capitol) did a guest shot on Knight Rider, playing a rock singer. That's not really news. After all, Hickland and Rider's star, David Hasselhoff (below), are husband and wife. However, the response to the show and her singing was so strong that Hickland was quickly signed to sing three songs with David on his new album, "Night Rocker." It's scheduled to be released this week. ↓

Unfair Advantage?

The next technological breakthrough in pro football figures to be a wireless transmitter that goes inside the helmet, allowing pass receivers to hear the quarterback's signals no matter how noisy the crowd is. Sounds like a good idea, but what's to keep a clever QB, such as Washington's Joe Theismann (above), from using the device to direct traffic downfield on a busted play? Wouldn't that give Theismann and his ilk an unsportsmanlike edge? "I don't know about that," says CBS Sports executive Ted Shaker. "Does a quarterback have the kind of concentration to sidestep a 300-pound lineman while playing traffic cop to his receivers?" What do you think? . . . The Harlem Globetrotters are looking for a good woman—basketball player. "It will be a great addition to our team," says the Globies' Curly Neal, and a great way to "let people see just how well women can play pro basketball." Neal discussed the idea last summer with former UCLA great Ann Meyers (below). "She said it would be nice to be the first female Trotter," says Neal. . . . Expect to see Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (right) doing more commercials in upcoming months. Abdul-Jabbar has resisted endorsements through much of his amazing career, but now the NBA's elder statesman has changed his mind. According to Marv Albert, the voice of the New York Knicks, "Kareem became more outgoing in his relationships with the media after he released his autobiography [last December]. I think the book—in part—accounts for some change in Kareem." . . . And, finally, how's this for a three-point play? The CBA All-Star Game (Feb. 23, Black Entertainment Television) will feature the $1 million Continental Basketball Association Supershot. If a fan makes a shot from the far free-throw line (69' 9" from the basket), he'll win $50,000 a year for 20 years.

CHEERS 'N' JEERS

Cheers ↑

To Robert Conrad (above). While producing and starring in an NBC TV-movie called "Two Fathers," being filmed outside of Chicago, ex-steelworker Conrad gave laid-off employees from a nearby mill a cheerier holiday season by hiring them as extras.

Jeers

To ABC News, for broadcasting a story by correspondent Gary Shepard that the Central Intelligence Agency had ordered the assassination of a Honolulu investment counselor. After checking, ABC News retracted the story. Couldn't they have nailed down the facts before airing such a serious charge?

Cheers

To cameraman Mike Hoover, who braved considerable danger in Afghanistan to bring back combat footage for the CBS Evening News with Dan Rather. Besides its "you-are-there" quality, the film showed that the occupying Soviets face a viable guerrilla presence—and reminded Americans that this "forgotten war" is now five years old.

Jeers

To NBC Sports, for cutting off the telecast of golf's "Skins Game" in some areas just before Jack Nicklaus's climactic $240,000 putt. True, rain had created scheduling snafus, but it's best to stay with an event that's in doubt—as NBC's infamous interruption of a pro-football game to air "Heidi" proved 16 years ago.

Cheers

To Theresa Saldana, for her gutsy and inspiring performance in her NBC TV-movie autobiography, "Victims for Victims: The Theresa Saldana Story." Remarkably, Saldana didn't flinch from baring (literally) the scars from her near-fatal stabbing.

Jeers

To the recent murder trial of Alexis Carrington Colby (Joan Collins, below) on Dynasty. The unlikely courtroom histrionics almost certainly gave viewers the wrong idea of how our judicial system operates. Calling Judge Wapner! ↓

OFF THE SET

Shooting the Rapids with Ana Alicia

When the cast and crew of CBS's Falcon Crest go up to the Napa Valley each summer to shoot location footage, Ana Alicia (who plays Melissa Agretti Cumson) and her friends (right) take the occasion to shoot the white-water rapids of California's American River. "It's one of the loveliest things I've ever done in my life," says Alicia (above). "It's so exhilarating, like riding a big bronco. You have nothing to hold onto. You're using your hands to paddle. And you're just going with the motion of the water." Her first trip down the American, however, left Alicia wishing she had brought along "my motorcycle helmet and a wet suit." That's because white-water rafting can be a bit dangerous. Naturally, you don't want to fall into the river: the currents are swift and the water is cold. The day we shot these pictures the water temperature was a chilly 50 degrees; lengthy exposure can bring on hypothermia. And, of course, "you have rocks all around you. But as long as you take the proper precautions," racing down the rapids is as safe as it is exciting. "It just takes balance. I never got to do [this kind of thing] when I was a kid," Alicia admits. "I was always studying and working, trying to build a career and a future." Now that she's taken care of business, so to speak, "I'm taking the time to enjoy my life." END

News Update

Progress Slow For Women in Network News

TV broadcasters got good grades this year for providing more opportunities for women in entertainment, but some observers fear there is backsliding in news, especially at the networks.

"I'm perfectly happy and have no personal complaints," says Judy Woodruff, anchor of the PBS documentary series Frontline and a former NBC correspondent. "But women like me, who have become relatively successful, got jobs in the early '70s when there was a burst of hiring. You can't really use us as an example of what is happening today. You have to examine what is happening for women now entering the field. And, overall, I think it's somewhat discouraging. What sort of opportunities are there for the unestablished woman? What are the percentages of women in news today—about 20 per cent at the networks—and where is that crop of new women's faces on network news?"

On the other hand, observers note that Diane Sawyer is settling in at 60 Minutes; that Connie Chung anchors NBC's Saturday Nightly News and its early-morning news; and that Lesley Stahl holds the reins at Face the Nation. All three networks have women co-hosts on their morning shows.

Still, experts say more could be done and ratings would grow if more women were visible. "Evidence from our studies shows that most Americans would prefer to see a man and a woman anchoring the network news," says Bob Nielsen, who conducted a national survey for SRI Research Center, Inc., in Lincoln, Neb.

The picture is better in the entertainment area. The National Commission on Working Women reports that this season's new shows, including The Cosby Show, V, Punky Brewster, E/R and Murder, She Wrote, had a man-woman ratio of close to 50-50 and gave women a variety of positive models.

NBC Schedules Berrenger's

NBC's ballyhooed entry in the prime-time soap-opera competition, Berrenger's, has been scheduled for Saturdays at 10 P.M. (ET), beginning Jan. 5. Berrenger's, set in a New York department store, was created by David Jacobs, who also created Dallas and Knots Landing.

The network has placed its new comedy, Sara, starring Geena Davis, in the 9:30 slot on Wednesdays, starting Jan. 23. It replaces It's Your Move.

INSIDER GRAPEVINE

Orientation Tour

Two beautiful visitors from Dallas are scheduled to arrive in Hong Kong next month. Victoria Principal and Linda Gray (who play Pam and Sue Ellen Ewing) will be there filming segments for three episodes that some insiders are linking to the show's season-ending cliffhanger. The details, of course, remain clouded in secrecy, but our sources forecast a warming trend for two of the main characters.

Welcome 'ome, 'iggins

Magnum, P.I. will also be shifting locales—from Hawaii to England—for a two-hour episode next season. Magnum and Higgins are sent there by their unseen employer, Robin Masters, to check out his new estate—and get involved in a murder. Might this serve as a series spinoff for the veddy British Higgins (John Hillerman)? Producer Donald Bellisario says no, he has a different pilot in mind for Higgins, but he declines to say more.

Steeling His Attention

Earlier this season, there were rumors that Remington Steele's Stephanie Zimbalist was behaving a bit petulantly on the set—allegedly because she was upset that co-star Pierce Brosnan's popularity exceeded her own. On the contrary, says a source close to the show, it's Brosnan's attitude that's causing some concern. "He's sort of lost interest in the show," says this observer, "because he's getting offers to do theatrical movies and is now a big star. It's clear that he doesn't spend much time studying the [series'] scripts. Stephanie, however, seems to be working much harder."

What Would Laverne Say?

Cindy Williams just can't seem to get any privacy. As Shirley Feeney, she shared an apartment—and punch lines—with Laverne De Fazio (Penny Marshall) in Laverne & Shirley. Now Williams has signed to star in a new ABC series pilot called "Joanna," in which she plays the only female executive in a New York trucking company. At home, she'll have company, too. Her "roommate," though, is a guy in an adjoining apartment with whom Joanna, to her dismay, shares a bathroom.

Handle with Caution

One of 1983's most heart-wrenching books was "Alex: The Life of a Child," writer Frank Deford's memoir of his young daughter's courageous yet unsuccessful battle against cystic fibrosis. Producer Leonard Goldberg ("Something About Amelia") acquired the rights to the book for an ABC TV-movie. But Deford's harrowing account of suffering and grief frightened off some scriptwriters, including Carol Evan McKeand, who had previously worked with Goldberg on Family. Last fall, the two happened to meet and McKeand agreed to take a second look at "Alex." Now she and her producer-husband Nigel McKeand are hard at work on the project.

THE REAL STORY

Your "As We See It" [Dec. 8], regarding the media's failure to cover the Ethiopian famine, was timely and apt. However, although the BBC deserves credit for its role in breaking the story, it was actually Mohamed Amin of Visnews, the international television news agency, who obtained the Ethiopian government's permission to cover the famine, led the crew—including the BBC's Michael Buerk—into the war-torn region and filmed the initial footage of death and starvation that shocked the world.

EDITORIAL OPINION

Having been a media gadfly for several years, I read "TV Editorials: Today—Hot Dogs. Tomorrow—The Bomb" [Dec. 1] with great interest. Indeed, these editorials frequently can accomplish a tremendous amount of good. The San Francisco Bay Area has several stations with extremely active editorial programs, complete with follow-up, advising viewers of the editorial's effect. The important bottom line is that, by having an editorial program, these stations have proven that they can act in the public interest without excessive FCC regulation.

AND AWAY IT WENT

In your article "Outrageous Price Tags: $77,000 for 30 Minutes? Gimme a Break!" [Dec. 8], the producers of recent network sitcoms are worried that they don't have enough episodes, 100 or so, "in the can" to make it in syndication. Well, one of the all-time most successful sitcoms in syndication had only a handful of episodes—The Honeymooners.

Yannis A. Pikoulis

[Dedicated "Honeymoonies" know that the show produced only 39 episodes.—Ed.]

HAVE NAME, WILL TRAVEL?

While I can certainly appreciate the frustration of Shari Belafonte-Harper with the entertainment industry and its often capricious and terrible treatment of talent ["'I'm a Woman, Black and Harry Belafonte's Daughter'—and It Doesn't Open Doors," Dec. 1], what would she say to the rest of us who do not have the option of adding a famous name to ours to help galvanize a stalled career? She should be happy she got a break; the rest of us stars that never were are still parking cars and pumping gas.

Kit van Zandt

THE PLOT THICKENS

I read Andy Meisler's exposé of look-alike, sound-alike stars ["Psst! Maybe James Franciscus, James Farentino and Tony Franciosa Are All the Same Guy," Dec. 8] with great interest. Mr. Meisler's article finally confirmed what my friends and I have suspected for quite some time. I did want to add some prime candidates to the "suspect" list: Nancy Olson/Barbara Bel Geddes; Susan Sullivan/Jane Curtin; Denzel Washington/Michael Warren; Don Johnson/Jan-Michael Vincent; and last, but certainly not least, Meredith MacRae/Meredith Baxter Birney!

Carole Roels
South San Francisco

I have been aware of the generic-actor syndrome since two of my favorite TV doctors—Richard Chamberlain (Dr. Jim Kildare) and Chad Everett (Dr. Joe Gannon)—reappeared as John Davidson and Robert Urich. And isn't it true that Efrem Zimbalist Jr. was the original model for Franciscus, Franciosa and Farentino, but he blew it by aging?

Looks like we made it, George Orwell notwithstanding. The passing of 1984 really calls for some special ceremony, but the TV celebrations will be much as we have known them in years past. ABC gives us New Year's Rockin' Eve '85, with Dick Clark playing host in Times Square, Priscilla Barnes and Adrian Zmed presiding over the entertainment in Los Angeles. CBS's Happy New Year, America, anchored by Andy Williams, flits from New York to Texas to Walt Disney World.

PBS bows to the New Year with two concerts of Viennese music. In Live from Lincoln Center, soprano Kathleen Battle and violinist Shlomo Mintz appear with the New York Philharmonic. And From Vienna: The New Year Celebration offers the Vienna Philharmonic's traditional program of Strauss waltzes and polkas.

The turn of the year is, as always, replete with Bowl Games and parades. Tuesday's program pages provide a guide to the games; the parades covered by the networks are the King Orange Jamboree Parade, the Tournament of Roses Parade and the Cotton Bowl Parade.

Saturday's ABC News Closeup report on the U.S. Supreme Court examines, among other things, the court's tendency in recent years to favor "majority" interests as opposed to civil liberties. Reporter Marshall Frady looks into the implications of this trend with professor Arthur Miller, the Harvard guru of jurisprudence, two of the present Justices, and citizens with a personal stake in rulings on such matters as school prayer. As is often the case, the plain folks are more interesting than the experts.

Also: Leontyne Price sings "Aida" (Live from the Met) in her last appearance on the operatic stage . . . and NFL Playoffs continue.

ON CABLE

Cable subscribers have a choice of three parties on Monday night: Willie Nelson's New Year's Eve Party, A Big Band New Year's Eve with Bo Thorpe and friends, and the New Year's Eve Rock 'n' Roll Ball, featuring Frankie Goes to Hollywood. Whichever you choose, Happy New Year!

What a network-movie week! For once the programmers have timed it exactly right, giving us a chance to literally start the new year off with pure cinematic delight and providing assorted pleasures fore and aft.

For New Year's Day there's Blake Edwards' 1982 Victor/Victoria, a serious consideration of role-playing decked out as a lavish, luscious, ribald musical comedy that will leave you laughing with just a bit of a lump in your throat and a thought or two in your head. Its source is a 1933 German film, but Edwards, a master of craft and comedy (with the "Pink Panther" series, "10" and "S.O.B." recent evidence), has made the material entirely his own.

Set in Paris in 1934, "Victor/Victoria" has Julie Andrews a stranded coloratura on her uppers, ready to sell herself for a strand of spaghetti, let alone a meatball. She encounters Robert Preston, an over-the-hill homosexual entertainer who has just lost his job. He gives her shelter and his ex-lover's clothes—and therein is the inspiration. Why not a nightclub act with Andrews in drag, offering her as a young Polish count who performs as a woman and then reveals herself as a man (concealing the fact that she is a woman)? Victoria becomes Victor everywhere but in the privacy of the room and bed that Andrews and Preston share companionably, and Victor becomes the toast of Paris. Into the club comes James Garner, king of the Chicago rackets, with his tootsie, Lesley Ann Warren, and his bodyguard, Alex Karras, in tow. Garner is smitten by the woman on stage and he's still smitten, albeit horrified, by the man revealed, much to the tootsie's grim satisfaction.

All this is for starters and what ensues is not only a plot of marvelous complexity but also the garnish of pratfalls, double takes and double-entendres, an Oscar-winning song score, knockout sets and costumes, all offered at a breakneck pace. And beyond the simply stunning performances there is each character's sudden awareness of role-playing and personal probing. In all, it's a splendid entertainment for grownups, who do or don't know who they are. Thirteen of its 133 minutes have been cut.

The week's second newcomer is 1981's Wolfen, a wonderfully eerie supernatural thriller. It stars Albert Finney as a Bogeyish offbeat New York City detective called upon to solve a series of mysterious murders that are stumping the department. Are wolf packs roaming the city's slums, notably the devastated South Bronx, and are they superwolves? There are varieties of social significance explored with remarkable special effects, but it's getting to the perhaps anticlimactic conclusion that's all the fun, including, beyond Finney's fine performance, a

Always a Bridesmaid until

"The Rapid-Loss Capsule Diet Plan is the fastest working diet I've ever tried. It changed my life and it can change yours, too."

The diet plan of the 21st century is here today.

It's the incredible RAPID-LOSS Fat Oxidation Diet Plan with the once-a-day RAPID-LOSS Diet Capsule. News of this power-packed diet capsule plan is rapidly sweeping America. And it's no wonder . . . the remarkably fast RAPID-LOSS Plan has been developed to trigger within your body a high speed fat oxidation (fat burning) process that literally attacks fat deposits 24 hours-a-day.

It's the RAPID-LOSS Plan's relentless minute-by-minute . . . hour-by-hour assault on fat that produces the most mind boggling weight loss results ever imagined. By constantly destroying stored fat and flushing away excess fluids, your body actually oxidizes fat up to 10 times the speed of boring exercise.

Yes, so awesome at carving away clinging layers of fat . . . you can witness truly remarkable results with lightning speed. Imagine . . . stepping on your scale and realizing you have lost as much as:

- 7 Lbs. in Just 3 Days
- 16 Lbs. in Just 1 Week
- 24 Lbs. in Just 2 Weeks

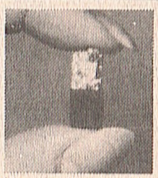
You can thrill to losing so much weight in such a short period of time, that people who haven't seen you in a while won't even recognize you...and when they do...



IF YOU READ NOTHING ELSE, READ THIS

The Rapid-Loss Diet Plan is an extremely fast and effective means to conquer obesity. It causes you to lower calorie intake which is essential to the rapid reduction of fat and body weight. Naturally, the incredible results described above may not be achieved solely through the use of the capsule. You must follow the entire Rapid-Loss Diet Plan to achieve the fastest results. Even though the plan causes people to drop pounds and shrink inches rapidly, it is still safe. However, before beginning this or any other weight loss program, you should check with your physician to make sure you are in normal health. Individuals with high blood pressure, heart disease, diabetes or thyroid disease, should only use as directed by their physician.

you simply overwhelm them with your new thi attractive figure. That's exactly what happened t Michelle Ruehl, one of our best case histories. O course results may vary, depending largely on hov much you are over your ideal weight. Make no mistake this incredibly fast non-stop fat oxidation process is on of the most sure-fire fat slashing developments ever!

And you'll be experiencing more than just incredibl fast weight loss. With the amazing RAPID-LOSS Fa Oxidation Diet Plan — Inch Loss Is Absolutel Fantastic. Check your tape measure as you lose up to

8" Off Your Waist
4" Off Your Thighs
7" Off Your Hips

Yes, dramatic . . . truly visible results are jus spectacular! But the amazing thing of course . . . is th pure simplicity of how this remarkable fat destructio process all begins. Yes — the ease of this medica science fat oxidation program is a true wonder.

HOW THE RAPID-LOSS FAT OXIDATION PLAN WORKS

The Program starts by taking just one super-powerfu RAPID-LOSS capsule in the morning. Within minute after taking your first RAPID-LOSS Capsule . . . you' begin to feel its awesome effectiveness.

Within your body the RAPID-LOSS Capsule breaks down into over 450 active and specially time-released beads . . . that release continuously all day long t control hunger. When you take this amazing capsule and follow the RAPID-LOSS Diet Program, calorie intake is reduced to provide for ultimate fat destruction Relentlessly—minute-by-minute . . . hour-by-hour you body is forced to Oxidize (burn) fat at an incredible rate Fat deposits are constantly being attacked every day . . even while you sleep. Fat simply doesn't stand a chance!

And one of the best things about the RAPID-LOSS Plan is how your hunger is controlled.

HUNGER IS CONTROLLED

The RAPID-LOSS Capsule Plan effectively controls hunger. Constant hunger simply does not interfere with your weight loss progress. As your weight begins to plummet down, you should use your good judgment and not let yourself become too thin. It is very important to eat properly. A nutritious diet plan is an important part of the total RAPID-LOSS Program. Yes . . . the RAPID-LOSS Plan triggers ULTIMATE FAT DESTRUCTION.

I found Freedom from Fat

MICHELLE RUEHL (Above & Right): "I was a 233 lb. bridesmaid in the picture above. I was overweight all my life and no diet I tried ever worked. The Rapid-Loss Capsule Diet Plan really surprised me. I started losing weight the first day and lost a total of 90 lbs. so fast my friends couldn't believe it. I'm so happy. Now I have a whole new appearance, a lot of confidence and, best of all, I have Alec."

PROVEN SAFE

Doctors and Medical Experts all across America are hailing the remarkable RAPID-LOSS Diet Capsule Formula as The Best Diet Aid Ever! And it's no wonder . . . in numerous clinical tests it has been proven thoroughly safe time and time again.

The RAPID-LOSS Plan has been proven by scores of the most stubbornly overweight people. Now it's your turn.

EXPERIENCE ULTIMATE WEIGHT LOSS

In virtually no time at all you'll begin to experience the rewards of your fast weight loss. And as you walk down the street ...or through a store — you'll feel a new sense of pride and increased self-confidence.

And that's just the beginning! By losing weight this incredibly fast way . . . you can look in the mirror each and every morning and thrill to noticeable results. And the rewards of your super-fast weight loss will include much more than just personal satisfaction. Once you have attained your ideal weight:

- You will look FANTASTIC in new fashionable clothing
- Your energy level will soar as you lose weight
- Most of all . . . your confidence and self-image will greatly improve

Medical Science has triumphed again. Here is a sure-fire, super-fast, continuous action Fat Oxidation Program. Now you have the power to attack fat deposits relentlessly, minute-by-minute . . . hour-by-hour. By using this round-the-clock Fat Oxidation process . . . weight loss results you've always dreamed of, are now within your grasp. The remarkable weight slashing RAPID-LOSS Capsule Diet Plan has already helped scores of overweight people.

RESULTS GUARANTEED!

The RAPID-LOSS Plan is fully guaranteed. Remember — you must see dramatic results faster than you ever dreamed possible . . . or the whole plan costs you nothing. Yes . . . you get a complete refund if you are not completely delighted. You see, you risk nothing. Please act now.

THE SUPREME COURT

Justices William Rehnquist and Harry Blackmun are among those discussing "The Supreme Court of the United States" in an hour that, says correspondent Marshall Frady, examines the tribunal at a moment of "perhaps historic transition."

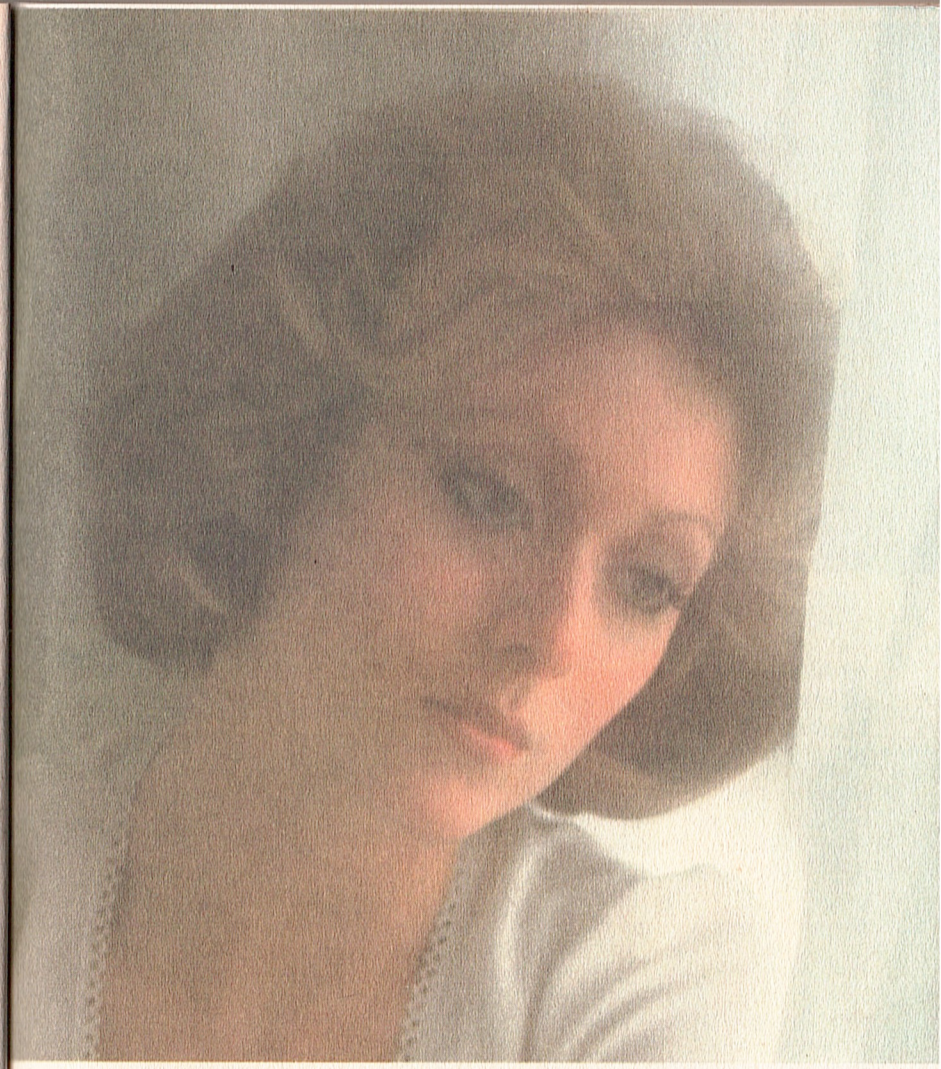
Recent court rulings, according to Frady, have modified a previous expansion of individual rights, "expanding instead the power of our institutions of law and order, in the interest of our collective security."

Implications of this perceived shift are assessed in an opening segment about an Arkadelphia (Ark.) high school whose students can be suspended for refusing to be tested for drug or alcohol use.

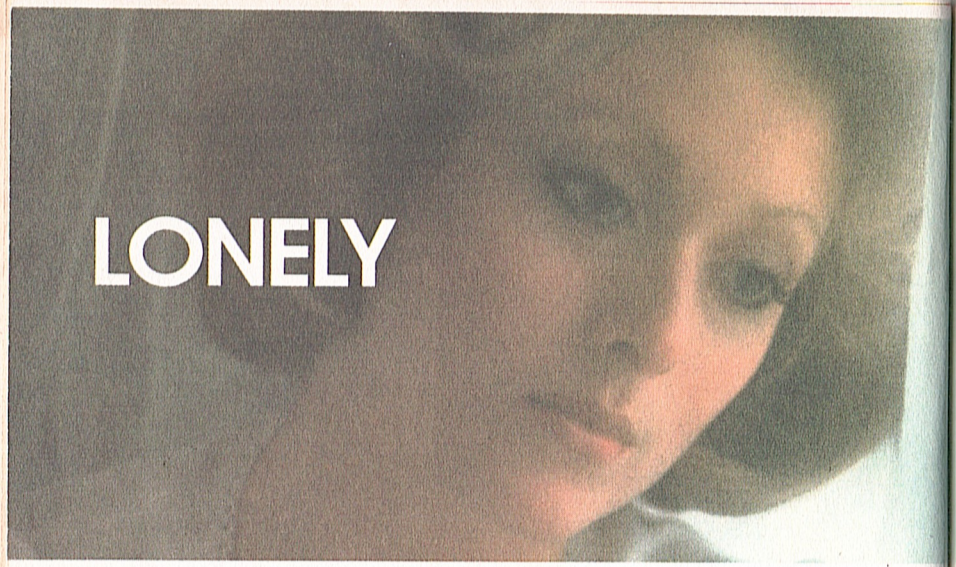
Next, Frady discusses court interpretations in the area of religion, focusing on what Harvard law professor Arthur Miller calls "potentially the most far-reaching case" on the court's docket—"the so-called moment of silence" in the classroom.

The hour concludes with right-to-life (and death) issues confronting the court, many of them resulting from advances in scientific and medical technology—issues, says Frady, involving "rights and freedoms not specifically defined in the Constitution."

Also interviewed: Solicitor General Rex E. Lee. (60 min.)



LONELY...



LONELY

...but not alone.

At one time or another, just about everybody feels lonely. Maybe you do, too.

There are many reasons. A loved one passes on. Children grow up and "leave the nest." A lifelong friend or neighbor moves away. An illness has come into your life, or perhaps the pressures of life have just become too great.

But however lonely you may feel, you need not be alone. Because you have one Friend you can always depend on. God has promised, "Never will I leave you; never will I forsake you."*

He offers you His companionship and love. And you can enjoy God's wonderful friendship and closeness in your daily life. The Bible promises: "When you draw close to God, He will draw close to you."

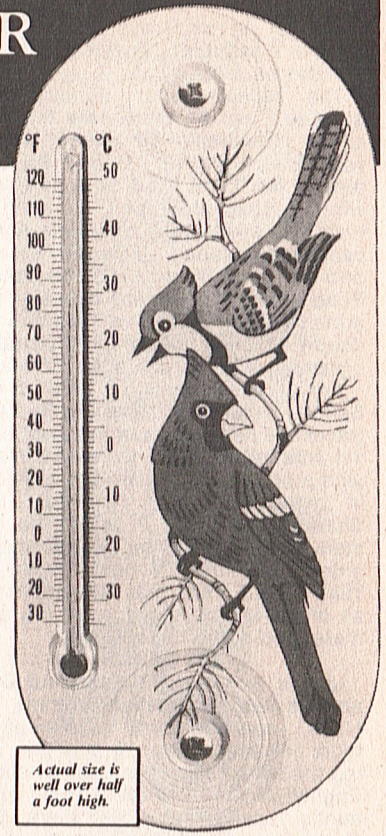
AMERICA'S BIRD WINDOW THERMOMETER ONLY $2



Actual size is well over half a foot high.

Nationally advertised at higher prices in leading media.

You've seen BIRD WINDOW THERMOMETERS like this nationally advertised in leading media throughout America. Thousands have already been sold at much higher prices.

This original printed ad* must accompany your request. Copies or photostats are not acceptable.

But during this campaign your price is only $2—if you return this publicity ad to the company address within the next 30 days.

Check the outside temperature—without leaving your home.

This is a true indoor/outdoor thermometer. Use it indoors or use it outdoors. Simply press it on any window surface. Special "clear-grip" suction cups hold it firmly in place—so you can check the outdoor temperature...from inside your home. The precision mercury thermometer is sealed in glass. And its big, easy-to-read numbers tell you the temperature in both Fahrenheit and Centigrade.

A beautiful window ornament too

Each thermometer is crystal clear and richly hand-decorated with colorful designs. When sunlight strikes these colorful birds, they glow with the radiance of rich stained glass.

Sorry—limit of 2 per address

These famous BIRD WINDOW THERMOMETERS will not be sold at this price by the company in any store. At this price there is a limit of 2 per address. But if your order is mailed within the next 30 days you may request up to 7. Each thermometer is covered by a full one-year money-back guarantee and will be replaced by the company, free of charge, if it ever fails to function.

To order at this special price

Send this entire original printed ad (no copies or photostats) together with your name and address and $2 for each THERMOMETER. Add only $2 shipping and handling no matter how many you are ordering. (New York residents add sales tax.) Allow up to 6 to 8 weeks for shipment. Mail to: E.M.P. Sales, Bird Window Thermometer Offer, Dept. 400-758, Box 400, Jericho, New York 11753. (A26450)

This Week's Movies

delightful bit by Gregory Hines as a coroner's assistant. Nineteen of its 115 minutes have been cut.

The repeats offer a variety of goodies. First off, there's the third run of the 143-minute "TV edition" of Steven Spielberg's 1977 Close Encounters of the Third Kind, with its Oscar-winning cinematography, stunning effects and sweet story of Middle Americans encountering UFOs. On its second run, Mark Rydell's 1981 On Golden Pond gives us a glorious duet by Katharine Hepburn and Henry Fonda in this deeply affecting light-toned exploration of family relationships, age and death.

For gung-ho tastes, on its third run, Samuel Fuller's 1980 The Big Red One traces the fate of a squad of men in the 1st Infantry Division in World War II with a powerful focus on the individual in battle. And Burt Reynolds' 1981 Sharky's Machine, in which he also stars, is a tough cop movie, fast and exciting. The one TV-movie repeat, of 1984's Hard Knox, has Robert Conrad as an ex-Marine shaping up his alma mater and doing the obvious.

ON CABLE

James Ivory's 1983 Heat and Dust, an exquisite re-creation of time and place, explores both contemporary India and that country in the '20s, during the British raj, with Julie Christie an Englishwoman exploring her great-aunt's "scandalous" past there. With Greta Scacchi as the woman of the past, it's a witty, engrossing and lovely movie.

For the strong of stomach, the cable debut of Brian DePalma's 1983 Scarface, with Al Pacino the Cuban hoodlum who makes it big in drugs, offers as much violence and obscene language as you may not be able to stand. And 1983's Sudden Impact, the fourth Dirty Harry flick, has Clint Eastwood and Sondra Locke accumulating 16 corpses in no time at all.

In some areas broadcast movies may not be seen on the days indicated. For times of cable movies, see program listings and Pay-TV Movie Guide.

Anytime you can get 11 records or tapes for a penny—that's a steal! And that's exactly what you get if you join the Columbia Record & Tape Club under this offer. To get your 11 albums right away, simply fill in and mail the application together with your check or money order for $1.86 as payment (that's 1¢ for your first 11 selections, plus $1.85 to cover shipping and handling). In exchange, you simply agree to buy 8 more tapes or records (at regular Club prices) in the next three years—and you may cancel membership anytime after doing so.

How the club operates: every four weeks (13 times a year) you'll receive the Club's music magazine, which describes the Selection of the Month for each musical interest...plus hundreds of alternates from every field of music. In addition, up to six times a year you may receive offers of Special Selections, usually at a discount off regular Club prices, for a total of up to 19 buying opportunities.

If you wish to receive the Selection of the Month or the Special Selection, you need do nothing—it will be shipped automatically. If you'd prefer an alternate selection, or none at all, fill in the response card that is always provided and mail it by the date specified. You will always have at least 10 days to make your decision. If you ever receive any Selection without having had at least 10 days to decide, you may return it at our expense.

The tapes and records that you order during your membership will be billed at regular Club prices, which currently are $7.98 to $9.98—plus shipping and handling. (Multiple-unit sets and Double Selections may be somewhat higher.) And if you decide to continue as a member after completing your enrollment agreement, you'll be eligible for our money-saving bonus plan.

10-Day Free Trial: we'll send details of the Club's operation with your introductory shipment. If you are not satisfied for any reason whatsoever, just return everything within 10 days for a full refund and you will have no further obligation. So you risk nothing by acting now!

NOTE: all applications are subject to review and Columbia House reserves the right to reject any application.

Special Start-Your-Membership-Now Offer: you may also choose your first selection right now—and we'll give it to you for at least 60% off regular Club prices (only $2.99). Enclose payment now and you'll receive it with your 11 introductory selections. This discount purchase reduces your membership obligation immediately—you'll then be required to buy just 7 more selections (instead of 8) in the next three years. Just check the box in the application and fill in number of the selection you want.

6 RECORDS OR TAPES FOR 1¢ plus shipping handling

If you are just an occasional buyer and would prefer not to obligate yourself to purchase eight more records or tapes, or if you cannot find 11 albums you want right now, here's a perfect opportunity to "try out" the club.

Just mail the special trial application below—and we'll send you any 6 records or tapes for only 1¢, plus shipping and handling. In exchange, you simply agree to buy as few as four selections (at regular Club prices) in the coming three years. Think of it!—only four selections and you have three whole years in which to buy them! And that's all there is to it!

As a Trial Member, you'll enjoy all of the benefits of regular membership under the terms previously described in this advertisement—but you may cancel at any time after buying four selections. So if you'd prefer to enroll under this offer—mail the application today, together with $1.00 (that's 1¢ for your 6 introductory selections, plus 99¢ for shipping and handling). Read the advertisement for details on how the Club works.

Start-Your-Membership-Now Offer: you may also choose your first selection right now and we'll give it to you for at least 60% off regular Club prices (only $2.99). Enclose payment now and you'll receive it with your 6 introductory selections. This discount purchase reduces your membership obligation immediately and you'll then be required to buy just 3 more selections (instead of 4) in the coming three years. Just check the box and fill in number.

New Year's Day Bowl Games

FIESTA BOWL
10:30 AM 5 6 8

MIAMI VS. UCLA
AT TEMPE, ARIZ.

Miami Hurricanes (8-4)
Coach: Jimmy Johnson (38-29-2)
Strength: Passing game.
Weakness: Young defensive backfield.
Players to watch: QB Bernie Kosar (20); WR Eddie Brown (40); WR Willie Smith (84); LB Bruce Smith (58); RB Melvin Bratton (5).

UCLA Bruins (8-3)
Coach: Terry Donahue (70-29-5)
Strength: Kicking game.
Weakness: Lack of scoring punch.
Players to watch: K John Lee (25); QB Steve Bono (12); WR Mike Sherrard (82); DB James Washington (3); LB Tommy Taylor (42).

Stats: Kosar has 5971 passing yards after two seasons, 1500 ahead of record holder Doug Flutie's pace . . . Lee kicked NCAA record 29 field goals this season, including six against San Diego State . . . Miami receivers Brown and Smith combined to catch 125 passes (a school record 66 for Smith) . . . UCLA's offense scored only 19 TDs this year; Miami's scored 45.

COTTON BOWL
10:30 AM 2 7

BOSTON COLLEGE VS. HOUSTON
AT DALLAS

Boston College Eagles (9-2)
Coach: Jack Bicknell (49-52-2)
Strength: Passing game.
Weakness: Rushing defense.
Players to watch: QB Doug Flutie (22); WR Gerard Phelan (20); DB Tony Thurman (17); MG Mike Ruth (68); RB Troy Stradford (23).

Houston Cougars (7-4)
Coach: Bill Yeoman (155-90-8)
Strength: Well-balanced defense.
Weakness: Inexperienced offense.
Players to watch: QB Gerald Landry (3); TE Carl Hilton (84); DT T.J. Turner (95); RB Raymond Tate (33); K Mike Clendenen (2).

Stats: Heisman winner Flutie is the NCAA record holder for career total offense and passing offense . . . Turner made 23 tackles for a loss this season . . . Thurman led the Nation in interceptions with 12 . . . The Cougars have 45 freshman on their 87-man squad . . . The Eagles led the country in scoring offense (36.7 points per game).

ROSE BOWL
1:45 PM 5 6 8

OHIO STATE VS. USC
AT PASADENA, CAL.

Ohio State (9-2)
Coach: Earle Bruce (102-49)
Strength: Running game.
Weakness: Youth in defensive secondary.
Players to watch: RB Keith Byars (41); QB Mike Tomczak (15); WR Mike Lanese (1); LB Pepper Johnson (98); P Tom Tupa (19).

USC Trojans (8-3)
Coach: Ted Tollner (12-9-1)
Strength: Defense vs. run.
Weakness: Turnovers.
Players to watch: LB Neil Hope (54); LB Duane Bickett (80); RB Fred Crutcher (49); QB Tim Green (11); LB Jack Del Rio (52).

Stats: Byars led the Nation in rushing, scoring and all-purpose running . . . Hope was USC's leading tackler, but fellow LBs Bickett and Del Rio are first team All-Americans . . . Of Tupa's 41 punts this year, 11 produced touchbacks and 16 landed inside the 20-yard line . . . These teams last met in the '80 Rose Bowl, when USC nipped the undefeated Buckeyes 17-16.

ORANGE BOWL
5 PM 5 6 8

WASHINGTON VS. OKLAHOMA
AT MIAMI

Washington Huskies (10-1)
Coach: Don James (110-50-1)
Strength: Hard-hitting defense.
Weakness: Offense.
Players to watch: DT Ron Holmes (90); RB Jacque Robinson (28); LBs Tim Meamber (42) and Fred Small (5); K Jeff Jaeger (18).

Oklahoma Sooners (9-1-1)
Coach: Barry Switzer (115-22-4)
Strength: Defense.
Weakness: Kicking game.
Players to watch: MG Tony Casillas (92); QB Danny Bradley (1); LB Brian Bosworth (44); RB Spencer Tillman (34).

Stats: The Huskies led the Nation in turnover margin, giving up 23 while picking up 51 . . . The Sooners were best in the country in rushing defense, giving up only 68.8 yards per game (they held Oklahoma State to minus 4 yards rushing) . . . The Huskies gave up only 11.6 points per game . . . The Sooners' only loss came when Bradley was out with an injury.

SUGAR BOWL
5 PM 4

NEBRASKA VS. LSU
AT NEW ORLEANS

Nebraska Cornhuskers (9-2)
Coach: Tom Osborne (117-27-2)
Strength: Defense.
Weakness: Kicking game.
Players to watch: RBs Doug DuBose (22) and Jeff Smith (28); C Mark Traynowicz (57); DB Bret Clark (10); LB Marc Munford (41).

LSU Fighting Tigers (8-2-1)
Coach: Bill Arnsparger (8-2-1)
Strength: Receivers.
Weakness: Injuries to defensive line.
Players to watch: RB Dalton Hilliard (21); WR Eric Martin (41); OT Lance Smith (75); QB Jeff Wickersham (7).

Stats: Nebraska was the top defensive team in the country . . . Martin is the SEC all-time receiving-yardage leader . . . The Huskers were also tops in TDs rushing (39) . . . Wickersham is the only LSU QB to pass for over 2000 yards in a season—and he's done it twice . . . This is Nebraska's 16th straight bowl game; they beat LSU in the '82 Orange Bowl, 21-20.

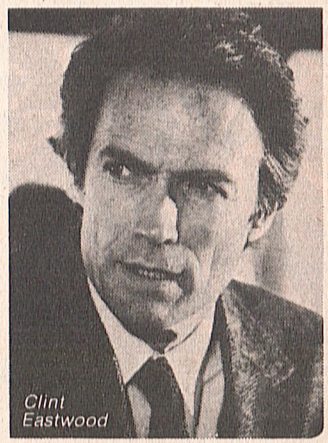
SUDDEN IMPACT



This 1983 crime drama opens on a familiar note: San Francisco detective Harry Callahan (Clint Eastwood) has an armed robber covered and he's goading the guy into an early grave. "Go ahead . . . make my day," Harry dares. The hoodlum does. Harry's day is made.

"Sudden Impact," the fourth—and highest-grossing—film in Eastwood's "Dirty Harry" series, finds the iron-jawed, steely-eyed cop up to old tricks, and as contemptuous of revolving-door justice as ever. By now this attitude has earned Harry a reputation as a "dinosaur" among his superiors, so he's dispatched to extinction—the suburbs—for a minor assignment. Minor? It happens to be connected to a string of bizarre murders committed by a reclusive and vengeful artist (Sondra Locke).

Directed by Eastwood, the film is rated R for strong language, violence and sexual situations. Chief Jannings: Pat Hingle. Briggs: Bradford Dillman. Mick: Paul Drake. Ray Parkins: Audrie J. Neenan. Kruger: Jack Thibeau. Donnelly: Michael Currie. King: Albert Popwell. Hawkins: Kevyn Major Howard. Bennett: Mark Keyloun. Leah: Bette Ford. (2 hrs.)

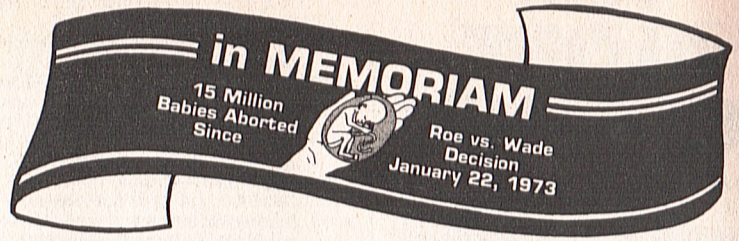
Wear This Armband



And Stop Abortion!

Millions of abortions have taken place since January 22, 1973, when the U.S. Supreme Court made abortion on demand legal. And thousands of abortions continue to take place each and every day.

We Must Act Now!

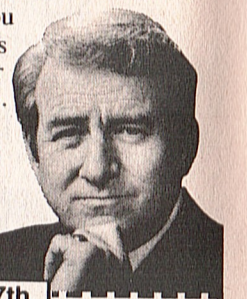
We can no longer passively and quietly wait for the Supreme Court to change their mind or for Congress to pass a law that would protect the unborn children of America.

That is why we are calling for a National Day of Mourning, January 22, 1985. On this date we will launch the greatest pro-life crusade in the history of this nation—and I am seeking 15 million Americans across this country—one person for each baby that has been aborted—who will wear a memorial armband like the one pictured above, in peaceful protest, on this date.

You can help save the lives of innocent babies by joining this national crusade against abortion and wearing your armband on January 22, 1985—thus galvanizing public opinion against what we believe to be our "national sin" and eventually bringing about judicial or legislative relief.

We will send you five free armbands to share with your family and friends. Just fill in and return the coupon by January 7th.

Jerry Falwell



DEADLINE: Mail Coupon By January 7th.

YES, SEND ME MY FREE ARMBANDS. I promise to wear one on Tuesday, January 22nd, the National Day of Mourning, in personal protest against abortion.

The Eyes That Turned Dallas Upside Down

Linda Gray was set for a minor role until her facial reactions to J.R.'s villainies made them the show's hottest couple

By Bill Davidson

It was one of those periodically critical days on MGM's cavernous Sound Stage 18 when a new storyline was being introduced on Dallas. The set was closed to outsiders. Even the crew was hush-hush about what they might have glimpsed in the script.

Only the irrepressible Linda Gray (Sue Ellen) seemed unperturbed by the tense air of secrecy. In her usual way she was being mother to everybody. Floating about like a huge beige butterfly in her designer silk dress, she showed Donna Reed (now Miss Ellie) and Susan Howard (Donna Culver Krebbs) how to cool off in front of a fan without their skirts blowing up provocatively in Marilyn Monroe fashion. She fixed a snagged sleeve on the dress of Susan Cabral, the show's head makeup artist. She joshed with Larry Hagman, who, spotting me, said, "Lies, lies. All she'll tell you about me is lies," hugging her affectionately in the meantime.

Gray as Sue Ellen and Larry Hagman as J.R. Ewing on Dallas.

The scene was shot. Despite attempts to prevent me from hearing the dialogue, I deduced that Jenna (Priscilla Beaulieu Presley) was missing on her wedding night and that her disappearance would be the focus of many episodes of Dallas to come. Half a season might rest on the 30-second scene I had just witnessed. The Linda Gray butterfly came fluttering over. "Isn't it amazing," she said, "how in television we can make something out of nothing?"

The same might be said of Gray herself, a classic phenomenon of this crazy TV period. When she was first called in for the original Dallas miniseries in 1978, she was a model-turned-housewife with the barest minimum of acting experience. She was 36 years old and, though maturely beautiful, she was totally atypical of the nubile blonde nymphettes so heavily in demand for → television's then-rampant sex-symbol era. According to casting director Ruth Conforte, who had used Gray as a transsexual in Norman Lear's short-lived All That Glitters, "All we wanted for the Dallas casting in those hectic days was kind of a walk-on actress who could look as if she once had been a Miss Texas in the Miss America contest."

Recalls Gray: "It was the damnedest thing. In the first episode, I had about two lines, like 'More coffee, dear?' and though I was supposed to be the wife of another then-minor character named J.R., there was nothing in the script to indicate what I was to him—secretary, mistress, maybe even just a tennis partner. The main story was a modern Romeo-Juliet version of Bobby Ewing, the rich kid, having this heavy romance with Pam, the poor girl from across the tracks. It was all Patrick Duffy and Victoria Principal. Most of the rest of the cast were little more than supernumeraries."

My, oh my, how all that changed. And in a matter of a few days, too.

Eight enormously successful Dallas seasons later, producer Leonard Katzman still remembers with awe those few crucial filming days of the miniseries that led to the regularly scheduled series. "I guess we just didn't realize the gold mine we had. Larry Hagman had come from sitcom—I Dream of Jeannie; Linda hadn't done much of anything. From the very first show, it was his genius, and her instinct, that made J.R. and Sue Ellen the more dominant characters. He created the smiling villain for himself. She didn't have many lines, so she did most of her acting with those astounding eyes of hers. Just listening to Larry tell of one of his evil deeds, her facial reactions indicated Sue Ellen was a character with a great range of emotions—understanding her husband's villainy, but caught in a lust-sick relationship that made her go along with him. She certainly saw much more in the character than we did when we started." The writers soon picked up on it, and before the miniseries was over, J.R. and Sue Ellen were the roles capturing the attention of the TV audience.

Only in Hollywood. And only in the wild, mercurial world of prime-time television.

"I had to tell her she was terrible after our first scene together," Hagman says, "but now she has proved she can play anything—a psychotic, an alcoholic, the rejected woman, the woman on the edge of promiscuity, the woman having problems with her mother and sister, the woman who deals with the infatuation of a boy less than half her age." Producer Katzman says, "We've actually nearly run out of severe emotional problems for her to handle. This year we've had to come up with an act by J.R. that's so heinous that Sue Ellen seemingly has to leave him for good." Careful, Len. You've let out another of Dallas's most closely guarded script secrets.

What about Gray's own emotional life? It has been a hectic one. The scandal tabloids and the foreign press have had a field day with her, accusing her of everything from alcoholism (untrue) to having an affair with Hagman (untrue) to having been in three years of psychotherapy (true, but only to the extent that as a former psychology student "I wanted to find out as much as possible about myself").

Apparently she had a lot to find out. The daughter of a watchmaker, the tall (5 feet 7½ inches) luminous-eyed beauty grew up in the 1940s in Culver City, Cal., not far from the MGM studios, which were then in their heyday. She says, "I'm from a strict Catholic background, so naturally I went to St. Augustine School and Notre Dame Academy. St. Augustine was just across the street from MGM. I was a curb-sitter between classes, waiting for stars like Judy Garland, Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney to come out so I could ask for autographs. Mr. Tracy was my special hero. I met him later and he said, 'Kid, when you don't have lines to say, use your eyes. They can do all the work to connect you with your audience.'"

For a long time, Gray was unable to do anything with her eyes but study psychology at Santa Monica College and at UCLA, and to abet her modeling career (she made more than 400 TV commercials) during which she met her soon- → to-be husband, art director Ed Thrasher, who posed her for a Capitol Records album cover he had designed. Once married to Thrasher, she settled into the comfortable suburban housewife's role in Canyon Country north of Los Angeles, bearing two children (son Jeff, now 20, and daughter Kelly, now 18).

Says Gray, "I did all the right things—PTA meetings, homemade butter, car pools, but then, when I was 32, the Stepford wife in me decided she'd rather try to be a butterfly. My husband objected—he said he was afraid I'd become another Sophia Loren and leave him. Also I was rather late in life to begin studying acting, but I did it. I took classes with drama coach Charles Conrad along with Veronica Hamel, Carl Weathers, Susan Blakely and others—all of them much younger than I was. Then, just because I got friendly in a health-food store with a woman who turned out to be Mrs. Dennis Weaver, I got a small part in Dennis's McCloud series, which led to other small parts in other Universal shows like Marcus Welby, M.D. and Switch. The only substantial role I had played when I got called in for Dallas was All That Glitters."

By 1983, Gray's career had zoomed to its present point, where Len Katzman unequivocally says, "Wherever I go, anywhere in the world, people invariably tell me the one person they want to meet from Dallas is Sue Ellen. In most places in Europe and Asia, they don't even know her real name." Such burgeoning fame inevitably took its toll on Gray's marriage. She and her husband,Ed separated and were divorced last year—a no-fault situation—which led to the stories (originated in a German newspaper as the result of a tip from a real-estate agent's mother) that Gray had moved into a Malibu house near Hagman's and was having an affair with him.

Nothing could be further from the truth. Gray was devastated by the divorce, and her greatest support in her time of trouble came from Hagman and his Swedish-born wife, Maj (pronounced My). Says Gray, "Larry and Maj have practically adopted me as their daughter. After the divorce, they took me on trips to Europe with them, they found the house in Malibu for me so I wouldn't be alone, and they even played Welcome Wagon lady for me by greeting me in the house with balloons, champagne and a machine which filled the building with bubbles. Larry and Maj can do some crazy things, but so can I in my friendship with them."

Hagman, for his part, possibly saved Gray's life—when she began hemorrhaging on the set and would have died had not Hagman become concerned about her unnatural pallor and gotten her to a hospital emergency room just in time (according to her own physician).

Gray, at age 43, is not usually prey to such illnesses and infirmities. She diets and exercises faithfully, both of which have bestowed on her the body of a 25-year-old. She is unimpressed by the fact that she was the first woman in her 40s to lead the way into prime-time soap stardom, to be followed by other wondrously preserved contemporaries such as Linda Evans and Joan Collins. "What about Bette Davis," she hmmphs. "She's 76, and look what she's still capable of doing."

Like Hagman, her mentor, Gray has unique ways of preserving her youthfulness. She never uses a scale to tell when she is overweight, for example. Instead, she keeps a pair of ancient blue jeans as a measuring device. "When I can't zip up the jeans," she says, "I know it's time for me to go on a diet."

She has learned from Hagman, who has his own idiosyncrasies—such as faithfully observing one day of silence every week, usually on Sunday. "I love Larry's days of silence," Gray says. "When he has misbehaved in his boyish way, I pick his day of silence to chew him out. I really let him have it like a common scold, while Maj just looks on approvingly and smiles. Since Larry will never violate his day of silence, all he can do is sit there and take it—maybe just whistling occasionally in resignation."

Doesn't sound much like the J.R.-Sue Ellen relationship, does it?

But then again, in real life,what does? (END)

Technical Impossibilities

You Can't Silence a Revolver—or Muzzle Prime-Time's Misfires

TV shows often play fast and loose with reality in an effort to keep plots moving

By Gregory Bayan

What, if anything, is wrong with the following scene?

An evil hit woman has been hired to "pull the plug" on Gary Ewing. She waits for him in a hotel lobby. Her weapon is a large-caliber revolver with a silencer attached to the barrel. Ewing walks by. The hit woman hauls out her hidden handgun and takes aim. As Mack MacKenzie spots her, her revolver goes off with a barely audible discharge.

If you said "There's nothing wrong with the scene," then start packing for Hollywood. You're qualified to be a technical adviser for Knots Landing, from which the above incident was taken. But if you correctly said "Aaaaaargh!" then rejoice. You know your firearms. You'll never write for television, but you know your firearms. And you probably also know that in the name of drama, TV shows often play fast and loose with the facts.

Ballistics experts roll in the aisles when they see a silenced revolver. It's a ridiculous and impractical portrayal. Technical reason: even if the muzzle report is silenced, the gap betwen the barrel and cylinder of a conventional revolver allows noisy explosive gases to escape when the gun is fired, negating the effect of the silencer. Right. Tell that to Mr. T.

So the silenced revolver persists, a perennial favorite in the arsenal of network television, where high-powered weapons are fired without recoil, where guns hold an infinite number of cartridges, and where the bullets used in Miami Vice draw blood every week, while those used by The A-Team carefully avoid all contact with human flesh.

Accuracy, then, is important. In taking aim on televised inaccuracies of all shapes and sizes, your narrator will emulate the legendary marksmanship of FBI Inspector Erskine, who never needed more than one shot to hit (but never kill) his man.

Being a just and merciful people, we often overlook much for the sake of dramatic license. We accept implausibilities like sound and gravity in outer space. Our imagination lets us believe that the technologically advanced aliens in V can be destroyed by facial applications of red dust (paprika?), and that Elizabeth the lizard-girl can stop the unstoppable countdown of a thermonuclear doomsday device merely by placing her hands on the machine's control panel.

But there are limits to our benevolence. In the miniseries V, the aliens had distorted, nonhuman voices. Why in the regular series—without explanation—are their voices now perfectly normal? Why are they such lousy shots, unable to hit freedom fighter Mike Donovan with point-blank laser blasts? For that matter, what new law of physics allows weekly carloads of people on The A-Team to emerge unscathed from vehicles that have just turned a dozen somersaults? What mysterious revision of history lets Chachi and Potsie of the early Happy Days wear over-the-ear hairstyles that were nonexistent during the '50s? For answers to these questions we search in vain.

So far, the pinnacle of truth for 1984 was reached in the first episode of the TV-movie "Lace." An Alpine ice-hockey team was shown at practice during the early-'60s. For strange and hideous reasons known only to the researchers of "Lace," some of the players were wearing brand-new, 1980s-style equipment, including high-impact plastic helmets and facemasks. Curious, since helmets and facemasks of any sort were virtually unknown in ice-hockey of that era, North American or European.

And when cosmic conditions are just right, a miniseries like The Last Days of Pompeii rises up and shows us what realism is all about. When ancient Roman sports fans talk and act as though they're at a Veterans Stadium tailgate party in Philadephia, the only way to preserve one's sanity is to lie back and play along. . . .

Hey, Sporus! What's the point spread for this week's Christians-Lions game?

The networks are rightly famous for their bold and accurate portrayals of certain professions; e.g., Sam the owner/bartender of Cheers, who rarely stoops to the vulgarity of actually charging money for drinks; "cutup" doctors like the gang at E/R, who make it almost a pleasure to be admitted to the emergency room; and ex-convicts like security chief Billy Griffin of Hotel, → and Mark McCormick, Judge Hardcastle's buddy, who use prison as a launching pad toward successful careers.

The new fall season brought us two thrilling new genres, the first being Glitter, wherein every magazine writer had the time and money to afford capped teeth, blow-dried hair, a physique from Jack LaLanne and a Mercedes in the driveway. (This writer drives a skeletonized 1971 Dodge Dart, a car that by now looks as if Godzilla uses it for target practice.)

The courage of the two starring reporters in Glitter's debut will never be forgotten. They lied to their editor and killed a hot story, yet somehow managed to stay on the payroll. In reality, writers who lie to their editor are usually not so lucky. Their typewriters are tied to their necks and they're hurled, shrieking, into the literary Twilight Zone.

And now we come to Jessie, the police psychiatrist. Jessie could talk the most dangerous criminals into surrender. She even sang to them. (What was next for Jessie—a music video?) In her two-hour ABC debut, she nabbed a psychotic killer of women. Surely all police psychiatrists are wonderful people. Along came NBC with the two-hour debut of Hunter in the identical time slot. Hunter and McCall also tracked down and nabbed a psychotic killer of women. Guess who the killer was. Go on, guess. A police psychiatrist. Whom dare we trust?

Several unlikely situations have been repeated so often that they're taken for granted, like the telephone hit-contract. Even in these days of Abscam, no one on TV seems to have heard of wiretapping. In this year's cliffhanger episode of Knots Landing, the wicked Mark St. Claire (now deceased) had sense enough to detect a concealed microphone on Abby Cunningham Ewing (strategically hidden against her bosom, where no man would look). Aha! At last a villain who thinks. No such luck. In the same episode, St. Claire identified himself by name, made threats, detailed a bombing and discussed a planned murder. All of this was done over the phone. St. Claire would have been better off doing commercials for AT&T.

Another standby, seen weekly on the old Perry Mason series and now revived in prime time on Murder, She Wrote, is the public breakdown of a criminal witness who admits he lied, conveniently letting all innocent suspects off the hook. Eminent trial lawyer F. Lee Bailey calls this situation "a totally unrealistic phenomenon."

"It never happens," says Bailey.

(This startling revelation has so shaken your narrator's faith in human nature that he must pause for a moment to regain his composure.)

Let us now venture onto what TV cops call The Street, where we encounter what Bailey calls the "never-mind-the-technicalities" method of television law enforcement. This method is epitomized by Hunter, a cop who renders suspects unconscious and then reads them their rights. The TV cop rarely has to face tedious paperwork or review boards. Search warrants are strictly optional.

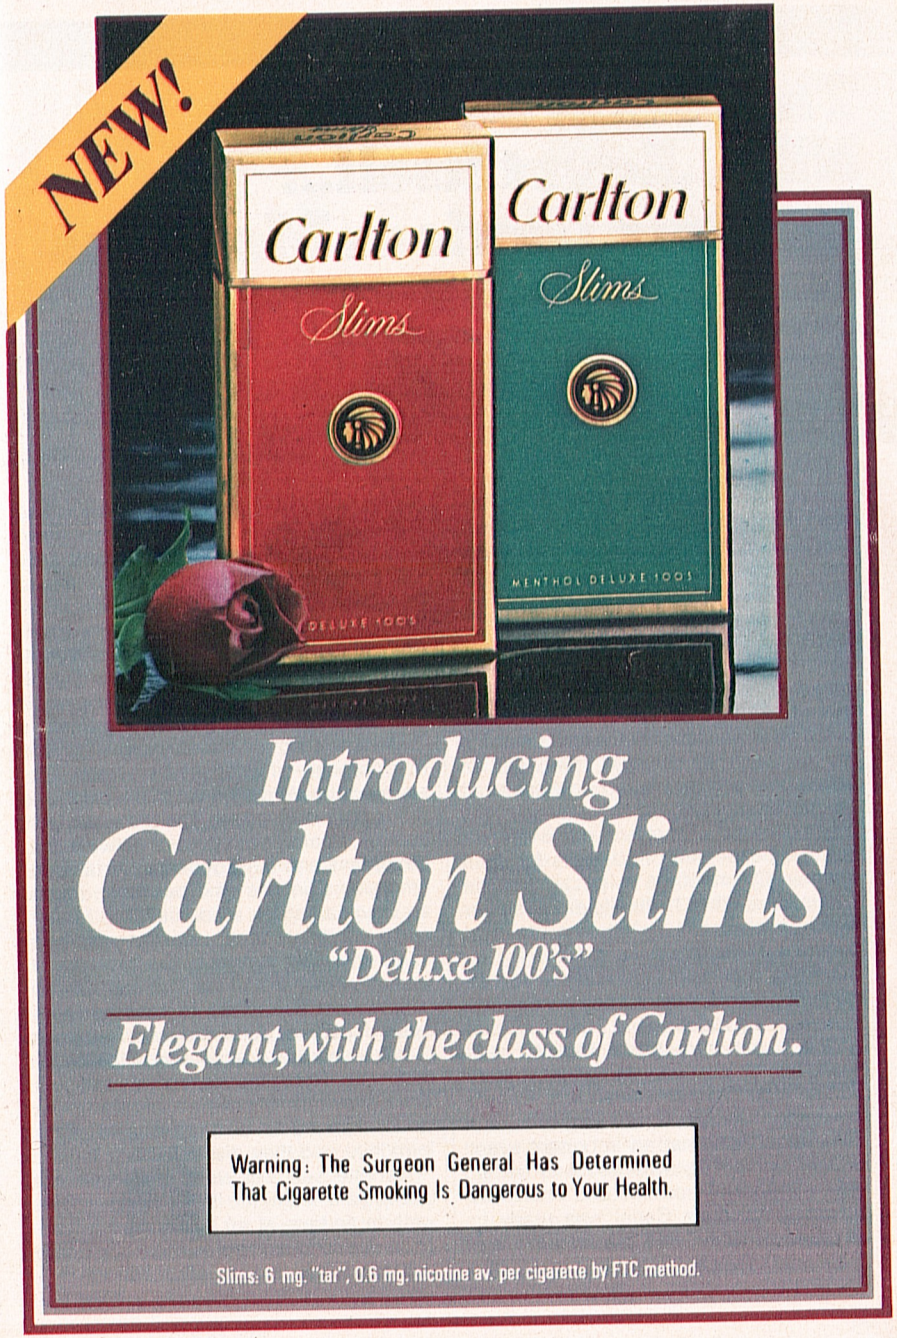
While we're on The Street, let's tally the car crashes. Those silly economists who say that the U.S. automobile industry is in trouble are sadly mistaken. From Honolulu to Hazzard County, the demand for vehicle replacement parts has reached proportions not seen since D-day. The chances are excellent that someone will break T.J. Hooker's single-season record for Most Vehicles Destroyed, so stay tuned.

Eternal optimists that we are, even the faintest ray of accuracy that breaks through the clouds is enough to kindle hope within our hearts. The following scene is from the since-canceled Hawaiian Heat:

A vigilante hit woman corners an accused rapist and holds him at gunpoint. Her weapon is a large-caliber revolver with a silencer attached to the barrel. Our hero, Mac Riley, enters the picture. He takes a long hard look at the silenced revolver. A quizzical expression comes over his face.

"Listen, I don't know the answers," he says. "But I do know that this is wrong."

Will the networks heed Riley's observation? We can only wait and see. (END)



The Moon on the Nile...Egypt Itself... Inspired Glorious Melodies

When Verdi was finally persuaded to compose 'Aïda,' he produced an opera of memorable power

By George R. Marek

The triumphal procession in "Aïda."

Live from the Met will present "Aïda" on most PBS stations on Thursday, Jan. 3, at 8 P.M. (ET). Consult listings for time and channel.

It was the color and drama of ancient Egypt that persuaded Giuseppe Verdi to leave his pastoral retreat and compose what is probably the grandest of all grand operas: "Aïda." The Egypt of the Pharaohs was almost unknown to Europeans at the end of the 18th century. Then, one of Napoleon's soldiers found, in Rosetta at the mouth of the Nile, a slab of black basalt covered with mysterious writing. It took the better part of 20 years for Jean François Champollion to puzzle out the inscriptions. When he finally did decipher them, Egypt was revealed as a vast and fascinating treasure-trove of history.

Among the many scholars who, inspired by the Rosetta stone, became intrigued by Egypt, a young French official by the name of Auguste Mariette was especially ambitious. He wrote a story called "Aïda" and submitted it to Egypt's sovereign, Khedive Ismail Pasha.

Mariette knew that an important event in Egyptian history was about to occur. After a thousand troubles and enormous expense, the Suez Canal was ready to be opened. Ismail had planned the festivities with Oriental sumptuousness. Six thousand guests were invited. For their comfort, 500 cooks and a thousand servants were imported, mostly from France. European royalty, including Empress Eugénie of France and Emperor Franz Josef of Austria, were there. The Khedive hoped to prove to Europe that the new Egypt was capable not only of engineering wonders but of "promoting the living arts."

Mariette's story, "Aïda," was perfect for this purpose—if it could be turned into an opera by Verdi, the world's most illustrious opera composer. The plot is simple enough, dealing with the war between the Ethiopians and the Egyptians. Aïda is an Ethiopian princess who has been made an Egyptian slave. Radames, the leader of the Egyptian Army, loves her and she loves him. But Amneris, the proud and beautiful daughter of the Pharaoh, is also in love with Radames. To save her conquered people, Aïda induces Radames to disclose to her the location of the Egyptian Army: Radames betrays his country. The betrayal is discovered and Radames is condemned to be buried alive. Aïda joins him and they die together.

Mariette sent his story to Camille du Locle, who knew the Paris opera scene well. In no time at all he finished a four-page sketch for an opera libretto. Du Locle had frequently tried to persuade Verdi—whom he worshiped—to write another opera, but Verdi had brusquely turned down every suggestion; he deserved a rest, he said, after composing 25 operas. Perhaps some day he would once again take up his pen and stand before the tall desk at which he worked, but now? Now he would work on his farm, and would watch younger men cope with the whims of impresarios, producers and tenors. Though Verdi was only 57, he considered himself as belonging to the past.

Du Locle would not give up. He kept on urging Verdi. "At least read the story. It is perfect for an opera. Read it!"

Eventually Verdi succumbed.

What made him change his mind? Verdi was not impressed by "important personages" like the Khedive of Egypt. No doubt the financial terms offered by Egypt were not to be waved away. He was to be paid 150,000 francs (equivalent in today's purchasing power to $300,000) for the right of performance in Egypt—in all other countries, including Italy, Verdi retained all rights. But Verdi, though he insisted on being decently paid, did not hunger for money. He would not have touched the project for twice the sum had it not stirred him. No, it was the ambiance of the story: the Egyptian Royal Court, the Egyptian temple, the field of the triumphal procession, the moon on the Nile, that captured him. Above all, it was the powerful themes that inspired him: the rivalry of the two women, the betrayal by the hero, all enacted in the heat-oppressed air of burnished sunlight and contrasted with the deep shadows of nocturnal secrets.

Once embarked on the project, he poured into "Aïda" the power of his ripe genius. He gave the opera what opera needs: glorious melodies, one after another after another, and every one appropriate to the dramatic content. No wonder that "Aïda" was yesterday, is today and will be tomorrow loved by more people than perhaps any work for the lyric stage.

By the time "Aïda" finally had its premiere in Cairo, the Suez Canal was an old story. Verdi refused to attend; he hated such affairs, which are "no longer art, but a business, a joy ride."The Milan premiere came six weeks later. The opera was rapturously received everywhere in Italy, except by one young fellow who wrote the composer that he found "nothing thrilling or electrifying" in the opera, after having spent 32 lire to see it, including four for a "disgustingly bad dinner at the railroad station." Verdi instructed publisher Giulio Ricordi to give the young man his money back (except for the four lire, "for he could perfectly well have eaten at home"), if he promised "never to hear one of my new operas again . . . so that he may spare me further expenses." That may be the only instance of a money-back guarantee in operatic history. END

HIGHWAY TO HEAVEN

This weekly NBC hour—about an angel on earth—is providing a lot of work for violinists, and a jolt for the tissue industry. For unabashed sentimentality there has been nothing like it since the movies of the early '40s, in which cozy old frauds like Barry Fitzgerald and "Cuddles" Sakall would assure the audience that love will find a way, God's in His heaven, every cloud has a silver lining and the best things in life are free. Having a heart of mush, I am a pushover for those old flicks, and even sometimes for Michael Landon's TV versions of the old plots.

Landon has spent most of his life as a television star. (Is Johnny Carson the only other example?) Being rich and no fool, Landon these days owns, produces, directs and stars in his own television series. That could be a formula for egomaniacal excess. But Landon is a shrewd television baby; he knows his audience and gives them what they want. They want small clouds and big silver linings.

Landon's angel is named Jonathan Smith. As a new recruit to the angel ranks, he is still learning the trade and makes an occasional mistake. For instance, when he went to the races to win money to pay off the mortgage on an old-folks home, he told his friends to bet on the wrong horse. Providence was looking out for him; the guy in the cage had mistakenly sold them a ticket for the right horse.

In that episode, the old people were going to seed in a home run by a tight-fisted manager. Angel Jonathan came along as a gardener, started the old folks growing flowers and caring for puppies, and had them cheered up in no time. Helen Hayes played a lady who had shut down her feelings; Jonathan helped her find romance with a fellow senior. At the end the home was safely in the hands of the old-timers, who had learned the power of positive thinking and petunia growing.

Jonathan has a sidekick, Mark (Victor French), who is grizzled and glum, but a pussycat. A former cop, Mark is inclined to cynicism, but his angel friend is teaching him to love his neighbor.

In a two-part story, a boy who had dreamed of a major-league baseball career lost his lower legs in a motorcycle accident. When Jonathan and Mark arrived as hospital orderlies, the boy was bitterly turning away help, his disappointed father was refusing to see him, and a lonely girl with a crush on the boy was languishing in rejection. Landon helped the boy learn that when life hands you a lemon, you gotta make lemonade. A nice performance was supplied by James Troesch, a genuine quadriplegic, as a physically devastated but spiritually dauntless young man whose example helped the boy get his head straight.

This show (currently shown Wednesdays at 8 P.M. [ET]) relies on some rather simplistic propositions about life and happiness, but I guess I prefer heartening bunk to cynical bunk. There is very little meanness or violence in this show. If it makes viewers feel better about life instead of worse, and puts all those string musicians back to work, I suppose it must be OK. (END)

Olds Firenza.

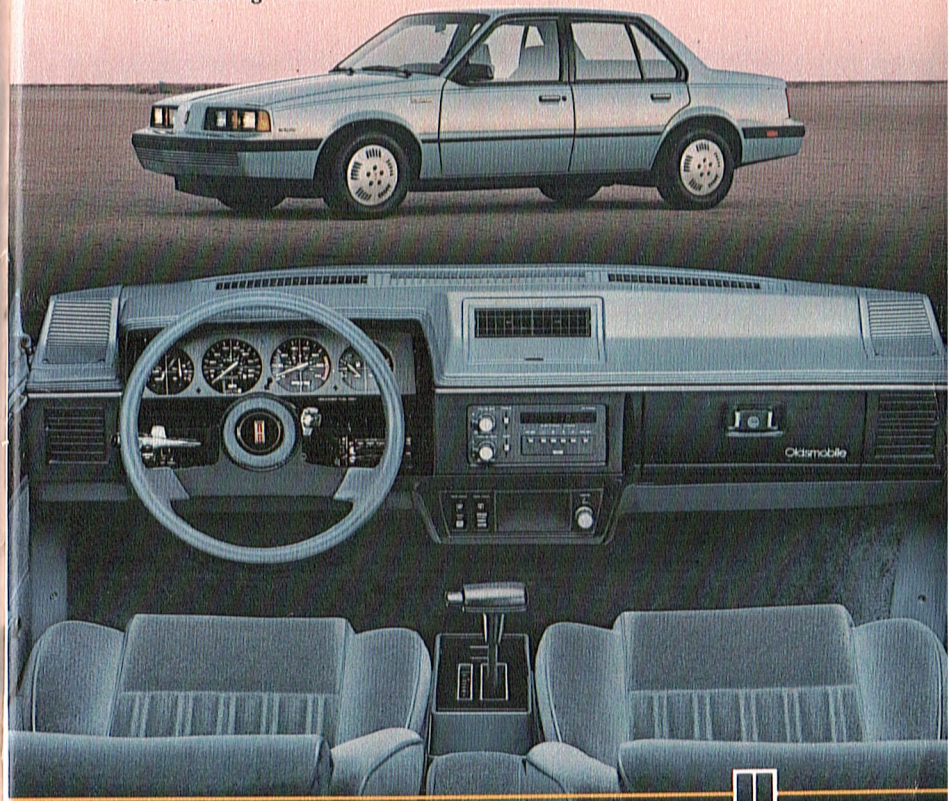
Here's how we make sure your first Oldsmobile won't be your last.

This isn't just another affordable car. The wonderful difference is that Firenza ES looks, feels, and drives exactly like an Oldsmobile.

Its moderate price includes the craftsmanship and engineering you expect in any Olds. The sporty look of the console and bucket seats is supported by true Oldsmobile comfort... in front and in back. Firenza performance comes from a 2.0-liter four-cylinder engine with electronic fuel injection.

Sound like a lot of Olds for the money? It is. Remember, we're not just seeking customers for Firenza.

We're seeking Oldsmobile customers. For life.



There is a special feel in an Oldsmobile

Let's get it together... buckle up.
